Day 1: Arrival in Cusco

Arrive in Cusco and spend the day acclimatizing to the altitude (3,399 meters or 11,152 feet) Take it easy, drink lots of water, and avoid alcohol and heavy meals

Day 2: Sacred Valley Tour

Take a full-day tour of the Sacred Valley of the Incas, including visits to Pisac and Ollantaytambo Spend the night in Ollantaytambo

Day 3: Train to Aguas Calientes

Take an early morning train from Ollantaytambo to Aguas Calientes (the town at the base of Machu Picchu) Arrive in Aguas Calientes and spend the day exploring the town and relaxing Optional: visit the hot springs in Aguas Calientes

Day 4: Machu Picchu

Wake up early and take the bus up to Machu Picchu (it's about a 30-minute ride) Spend the day exploring the ruins with a guide or on your own Optional: hike Huayna Picchu or Machu Picchu Mountain (must be booked in advance) Return to Aguas Calientes in the afternoon/evening and spend the night

Day 5: Return to Cusco

Take the train back to Ollantaytambo and then a bus or taxi back to Cusco. Spend the rest of the day exploring Cusco and its many attractions. Optional: visit the Cusco Cathedral, Qorikancha, and San Blas neighborhood.

Day 6: Departure

Depart from Cusco to your next destination.

NOTE:

It's important to book your Machu Picchu tickets and train tickets well in advance to ensure availability, especially during peak season (June-August). Also, be sure to pack warm clothing and good walking shoes as the weather can be unpredictable and the terrain is steep in some areas.
